WHAT DOES THE AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/ EQUAL OPPORTUNITY OFFICE DO?

Utah State University is dedicated to providing an equal opportunity climate and an environment free from discrimination and harassment. In accordance with established laws and policies, the University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on: race; color; religion; sex (including sexual harassment, pregnancy, child birth and pregnancy-related conditions); national origin; age; genetic information; sexual orientation or gender identity/expression; disability; status as a protected veteran; or any other status protected by University policy or local, state, or federal laws. The USU Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity (AA/EO) Office assists faculty, staff, students and recipients of University services/programs in implementing both anti-discrimination laws and applicable University policies and in creating an environment where diversity is valued. We also work to ensure access to USU educational and employment opportunities for groups that have traditionally faced barriers to opportunities in these areas, and assisting leadership in overcoming the conditions resulting from past discrimination. With this in mind, the AA/EO Office focuses on a variety of responsibilities which include (but are not limited to):

- Developing affirmative action policies, plans and programs at USU aimed at increasing the participation in the employment processes of underrepresented groups of women, minorities, people with disabilities, and protected veterans.
- Monitoring the representation and status of underrepresented groups at USU who are prospective or current faculty or staff.
- Providing training on affirmative action/equal opportunity laws, policies, prevention of sexual harassment, valuing diversity, and other related topics.
- Investigating, processing and assisting to resolve illegal discrimination and harassment (including sexual harassment) complaints.
- Acting as Title IX Coordinator for the University
- Assisting and advising USU organizations and programs on how to enhance awareness of and sensitivity toward diversity and "differences."

WHAT IS AFFIRMATIVE ACTION?

Affirmative Action is designed to redress imbalances of minorities and women in the workforce. U.S. Presidential Executive Order 11246 (as amended) requires USU, as a federal contractor, to take affirmative steps to recruit, hire, and advance women and minorities when they are underrepresented in the University workforce and are qualified and available in the labor force. The Executive Order prohibits discrimination and requires USU to proactively undertake "good faith efforts" to determine underutilization of women and minorities in our workforce and to proactively work towards our affirmative action goals.

While affirmative action goals are not established for people with disabilities or protected veterans, the University also undertakes affirmative steps to recruit, hire, and advance people with disabilities and protected veterans, as required by the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; the Vietnam Era Veteran's Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974 (as amended); and the Jobs for Veterans Act (JVA) of 2002.

The University Affirmative Action Program (AAP) is published annually and is available for review in the AA/EO Office, the Office of Human Resources, and at the reserve desk in the Library.

WHAT IS EQUAL OPPORTUNITY?

Equal Opportunity in employment and education is an essential priority for USU, and one to which the University is deeply committed. USU is dedicated to providing an equal opportunity climate and an environment free from illegal discrimination and harassment to faculty, staff, students, and the entire University community as outlined in the opening paragraph above.
